Investor Relations

KGHM Polska Miedź S.A., whose shares are traded on a regulated market, apart from its legal obligations, applies an active investor relations policy. The goal of this policy is to create shareholder value, present an accurate picture of the Company and to build trust in the eyes of investors.

The Company engages in regular actions aimed at representatives of international investment funds, investment banks, market analysts and individual investors. In 2011, KGHM Polska Miedź S.A. met with investors during metals and mining and emerging market conferences.

Publication of the Company's quarterly reports was accompanied by meetings of the Management Board of KGHM with analysts, portfolio managers and economic reporters, which were transmitted live via the internet. This modern form of communication enables shareholders to enjoy virtual participation and present questions. Video copies of these meetings are available at the Company's website, under Investors Zone.

A new initiative by KGHM Polska Miedź S.A. implemented in 2011 was the Investor Day – an event bringing together invited analysts and portfolio managers to help them better understand the nature of the Company.

The investor relations staff of KGHM makes use of electronic media. Apart from the internet transmissions mentioned, contact with investors is maintained through the use of conference calls and video conferences (around 35 in 2011) as well as e-mail (around 500 investor-related messages in 2011). At the Company's website, www.kghm.pl, in the section Investors Zone, is information on the Company's current condition (including current and periodic reports), General Meeting-related documents, corporate governance, forward-looking statements on forecast results, power-point presentations from the quarterly Management Board meetings and also videos. Investors interested in receiving current information can subscribe to the Company's newsletter, which in 2011 was sent to 500 recipients.
